

Gary Eimerman

EVP, Pluralsight Skills

Gary Eimerman is Executive Vice President of Skills at Pluralsight, Inc., the leading technology workforce development company that helps companies and people around the world transform with technology. In his role, Eimerman oversees Pluralsight's Skills product line, providing learners with the fastest and most effective path to developing in-demand technology skills.

Gary is known as a forward-thinking and hands-on leader with a passion for people, technology, and education. Since joining Pluralsight in 2013, he has served in a number of capacities across the company, contributing to an extensive track record of success spanning several facets of the business that are core to Pluralsight's growth, including curriculum, content production, product development and management of Pluralsight's author network. Most recently, Gary was Head of Skills Development where he played a key role in delivering new learning experiences including Labs and Sandboxes, making hands-on learning a priority format for the company. Gary's interest in developing technologies and his new ways of thinking keep Pluralsight at the forefront of technological development.

Prior to joining Pluralsight, Gary was the Director of Product Development at TrainSignal where he built the bootstrapped IT training company from 2 employees with $200K in annual revenue to 53 employees with $8M in annual revenue.

A graduate from the University of Iowa, Gary holds a Bachelor's of Business Administration degree in Management Information Systems.